GENERATIONAL DIFFERENCES: YOU ARE NOT TRAINING AND MOTIVATING YOU

This fast-moving workshop examines and analyzes the differences, similarities, and issues involving older and younger people in the workplace. Participants will be presented with the latest data related to bridging generational differences. The views, behaviors, and attitudes of several generations are explored in a serious and humorous fashion. Participants will find new ways to view and work with the “other” generation.

Workshop participants will learn about:

- The “normal” and unique generational differences that exist in the workplace
- The latest research on why these differences exist
- Practical Strategies for Supervising and Training Younger Employees
- Organizational changes and Strategies for addressing generational issues

Time format: ½ day up to 3 days
